Judge J.W. Adkins Hands Out Terms To Two Women And Two Men

THREE DENY GUILT

Sentence Is Withheld In Case Of Youth

Two terms to the Marysville women's reformatory and two terms in the Mansfield reformatory, along with three pleas of not guilty and one deferred sentence, resulted when prisoners indicted by the January grand jury were arraigned before Judge J. W. Adkins late Monday.

The Marysville sentences, each or from one to five years were given Virgie Messer, 24, and Leona Cooper, alias Leona Blevins, 26 after they pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking into the home of William Watson, Jackson-twp, and stealing quilts and rugs valued at $40.

Mrs. Messer is the wife of Henry Messer, a patient in the U. S. veterans hospital at Chillicothe, and Leona Blevins- Cooper admitted being the first wife of Messer.

The Mansfield terms were handed to Cossee English, 23, colored of Roanoke, Va., who was sentenced for from one to 15 years for breaking into and stealing two tires from the Circleville Iron and Metal Co., and to Ernest Laubenscheimer, 21, from one to 20 years for forgery. He was charged with issuing checks allegedly signed by George W. Runkle of Ashville. The check on which he was indicted was given to J. M. Kaiserman.

Laubenscheimer admitted having served a term in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

All the prisoners will be transported to their respective abodes as soon as necessary papers can be produced to the sheriff's office.

INVESTIGATE CASE

Sentence was withheld pending an investigation in the case of Delvis Waise, 18, of Chillicothe, charged with stealing and driving without the owners consent the automobile of James Vincent of Duvall. Waise pleaded guilty but said that a youth now held in Chillicothe for auto theft was the person who actually took the car. The boy is one of nine children. His father is dead.

Homer McCain, indicted for operating an automobile without the owner's consent, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail.

Carl Conard, this city, was released from custody under $500 bond when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of failure to provide for two children.

Clifford Haddox, 24, pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging failure to provide. He was held under $500 bond.

When the cases will be tried is not known as the criminal court docket is crowded for the next several weeks.

AUTO LICENSE FUND IS SENT TO DISTRICTS

Over 12 Millions Distributed To Ohio Counties; Checks Are Mailed

CITY GETS $3906

Where Each Dollar Goes Is Explained

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—A total of $12,081,024.98 automobile license tag receipts for 1932 had been turned into the state treasury Monday, by the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles. The same day disbursing warrents went forward to the 88 counties in probably the most notable single distribution of funds in the history of the state. Officials said that if county auditors use similar diligence these funds will be in the hands of all taxing district officials this week.

The collections to date for 1932 approximate the entire collections for 1931. The unusual promptness of returns by district deputy commissioners and distribution to counties, is attributed to Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown's plan to forward these funds as early as possible to aid in the unemployment situation throughout the state.

WHERE DOLLAR GOES

The revenue collected for automobile licenses is distributed as follows:

Twenty-five per cent of all license fees paid by residents of a county and its municipalities, regardless of where such license plates may be purchased, comes back, monthly. The portion due the municipalities is paid out through the county auditor, and the remainder is retained in the county treasury, all to be used for the maintenance and repair of public roads and highways, and for no other purpose. Not to exceed 50 per cent of such funds may be used for new construction.

Five per cent of all license taxes collected goes into a fund to be divided equally among the 88 counties. Here is where the big counties help the smaller ones. This money also is used for road work.

Forty-seven per cent of all taxes collected is for the use of the county in which the owner resides, for the highway purposes.

Twenty-three per cent goes to

57 FIREMEN ARE INJURED

Spectacular Holocaust Sweeps Bridgeport, Conn., Two Firemen Known Dying

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 12.—Threat of death stalked through the ranks of Bridgeport firemen today, 57 of whom were overcome or injured early today in a spectacular six-hour blaze, the city's worst conflagration in years.

At least two firemen were dying. A dozen others were in serious condition. Thirty-two still crowded hospitals. And scarcely a fireman who escaped unhurt was entirely free from scratches and minor burns.

Estimates of the loss mounted today past $300,000 and indications were that it would be higher as investigators dug through smoking ruins of the Brooks Furniture and Masonic Temple buildings at Broad and John streets to check damages.

Breaking out shortly before 10 p. m. last night, the flames roared up and through both structures so swiftly that fire companies responding to the first alarm were forced to grope through clouds of smoke that blanketed the street for blocks. Huge crowds gathered. Nearly 100 police were summoned.

One in every four firemen collapsed. When the fire had passed its peak, men were seen to drop as though before scattering rifle fire.

HURRIED TRIAL FOR BISCHOFF IS CINCI. PLAN

Plea Of Insanity May Save Man From Electric Chair, Officials Believe

HUNT MORE BODIES

Alienists Examine Man Who Confessed

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 12.—While pick-axes and shovels tore away at the cellar in the home of Charles Bischoff, 45, of Cincinnati, confessed torturer and murderer of six-year-old Marian McLean today, county authorities speeded up the law machinery in hopes of obtaining an immediate indictment. Twenty-one witnesses were to go before the special grand jury today, and if indicted, the slayer will be given a hurried trial.

Bischoff, whose calm and jumbled confession of the child's criminal assault from which she died, has caused authorities to doubt his sanity, was submitted to further observation by alienists. He took little interest in them, continually making the request that he wished to die.

HUNT IN CELLAR

Bischoff's sudden faltering after 21 days' grilling led Prosecutor R. N. Gorman to believe that other children may have fallen prey to his degenerate tactics and their bodies buried in the damp, cold cellar where the McLean child suffered her cruel death. Therefore he ordered Willis Walker to dig into the Bischoff cellar. During the excavation a careful watch is being made for traces of lime. The accused man has admitted knowing that bodies were hard to detect when covered with that substance.

During the past 15 years two other girls, neither of whom have been found, have disappeared here.

Although alienists have made numerous examinations of the prisoner since he "discovered" the body on Dec. 22, no official report has been announced. Unofficial rumors, however, claim they found him insane, but his type of mental illness would not prevent him from giving a clear description of the kidnaping and murder.

OBJECTIVE OF KIWANIS TOLD

Vice-President of Kiwanis International Addresses District Meeting

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12 — Six objectives for the Ohio district of Kiwanis were laid down by Andrew G. Gaul, Hamilton, Ont., vice president of Kiwanis International, in an address to district delegates at the Neil House here Monday.

These objectives are:

1: Better care of underprivileged children.

2: A better understanding between city and rural people.

3: A more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.

4: Vocational guidance.

5: Expansion of boys' and girls' work and playgrounds.

Gaul, elected last year, praised the Ohio district which numbers 126 clubs and 7105 members.

He said every club in the country has been asked to aid in the unemployment relief programs of their cities.

Gaul said the present depression has hindered expansion of Kiwanis, but has not hurt its present strength.

A movement was afoot at the district meeting to expand membership by dividing professions into classifications where feasible.

Judge A A. Schramm of Marietta pinned the governor's button on Dr. C. M. Wilkinson, Alliance, and in turn was presented with a past governor's button by Dr Wilkinson.

Tom a Renick, district trustee of the local club attended the meeting. D. L. Buchanan, county school superintendent, who is district trustee of the Carrollton Kiwanis club, also attended.

COUNTY DADS HEAR PLEAS OF 2 GROUPS

Farm Bureau Group Asks No Radical Reduction In Appropriation

SITE COUNTY JOBS

Morning Committee Asks Salary Reduction

Sounding the call that if salaries of county officials are reduced any lower than they are that persons desirable to fill the posts will not seek election, and asserting emphatically that a reduction in the appropriation for county farm extension through the farm bureau would be a sad blow to the efficiency of the organization, 14 citizens of Circleville and surrounding townships appeared before the county commissioners Monday afternoon. The group pleaded that the farm bureau's appropriation cannot be reduced greatly in order to provide for the service that is now produced through the county agent H. Stanley Lewis, whose work was highly lauded by the group.

The warning of inferior persons seeking county elective offices if the salaries are cut was not a part of the program of the men who appeared before the commissioners but was brought into the discussion during the course of the afternoon.

GLICK SPOKESMAN

Turney M. Glick, of Circleville-twp, representing the farm bureau and the grange, was spokesman for the group which included Tom O. Gilliland, of the Chamber of Commerce, T. F. Jeffries, representing the Pumpkin Show Society, Marvin G. Steeley, representing Pomona grange, C. B. Tegardin, extension chairman of the farm bureau, J. B. Stevenson, of the county livestock cooperative association, Meeker Terwilliger, representing the Rotary club, John R. Pyle, Jr., of the Pickaway Grain Co., Cliff Hitler, of the Pickaway Cream Cooperative association, Ira Fisher, of the federal farm loan association, W. J. Marion, of the public affairs committee of the farm bureau, J. R. Noecker, of the Pickaway-co Bank association, H. J. Briggs, service manager of the farm bureau and C. E. Groce, grain dealer.

Mr. Teegardin, who made one of the most impressive talks of the meeting, said that the farm bureau, recognizing present difficulties, is willing to take a cut with the other department of the county but does not feel that the brunt of the reduction should fall on that organization.

The alleged 'whiskey' was poured down the side of a hill and its a safe bet nothing will grow where the liquor was poured within the next year.

Mr. Bolender's mind was not free until all the liquor had been disposed of. As a note of gratitude for reporting the cache, Sheriff Radcliff presented the keg to Mr. Bolender for his own use.

BETTMAN TO FIGHT EFFORTS OF CHICAGO TO TAKE ERIE WATER

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12.—Determined to prevent, if possible, interference with the commercial activities of Ohioans on the Great Lakes through the so-called "Chicago water steal," Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has assumed the role of "watchdog of Lake Erie."

Due to the litigation instituted by the attorneys general of Ohio and other states bordering on the Great Lakes, the United States supreme court, some months ago, called upon Chicago to complete the construction of a sewage disposal plant system not later than 1938.

The attorneys had argued that the Windy City was illegally diverting 10,000 cubic feet per second from the Great Lakes for use in lieu of sewage disposal plants in its sanitary district.

LEVEL IS LOWERED

As a result of this diversion, Ohio commercial interests on the Great Lakes had been materially injured, Bettman contended, by reason of the fact that the level of Lake Erie had been lowered practically five inches.

Interest on the part of Ohioans in this case received considerable impetus recently when it became known that, in a report filed with the federal supreme court, Chicago contended that, due to financial conditions it is unable to sell any more bonds and that further work on its sewage disposal plant program must stop.

Upon inspecting a copy of this report, Bettman promptly issued a warning to Ohio and all the lake states that " the Chicago sanitary district may be using its alleged bankrupt condition for a smoke screen" in an effort to conceal plans designed to induce the U. S. supreme court to modify its decree restricting the amount of water diverted to that district from Lake Michigan.

"I shall vigorously oppose any application, if one is made by Chicago to the U. S. supreme court, for an extension of time in which to complete its sewage disposal plant system," Bettman told International News Service today.

"I would, also, fight any effort that Chicago might make to induce Congress to enact legislation giving it authority to divert water from the Great Lakes," Bettman continued.

"In such an event, I would challenge the constitutionality of such action. Congress, in my judgment, can regulate commerce, but is possesses no power to make commerce.

"If Congress was asked to pass such legislation, I would seek to thwart such procedure on the ground that it would be unconstitutional."

Bettman characterized as "absurd" the claim by Chicago that it will need 6,000 cubic feet of water per second. He pointed out that such an amount would be six times the amount required to operate the Panama canal, which carries the world's commerce.

Looking Down on the New Arlington

This first air view of the amphitheatre at Arlington National Cemetery since the recent improvements, was made while the "hunger caravan" that Father Cox led from Pittsburgh, Pa., to seek relief from Congress, was paying a tribute at the tomb of the "Unknown Soldier." In the right and left background may be seen the hundreds of automobiles that were used by the jobless in the big parade. Father Cox laid a wreath on the tomb in the name of his "hunger army."

Coin Of The Realm

CAESAR caused the Roman money to be stamped with his likeness, thereby including it among "the things that are Caesar's." In ancient times the emperor owned not only the money but all the substance of his realm, including the lives of his subjects. The same is true today in all those countries in which the government is still an absolute monarchy. The coin of the realm has peculiar interest in that it bears the likeness of the ruler of the nation.

The coin of the United States is not a departure from this rule, although all the figures depicted thereon are symbolic. Upon most of the coins is the goddess of liberty. The eagle, symbol of strength and courage, is also upon most of them. In only one case is the head of a particular individual imprinted upon an American coin—the head of Lincoln on the cent.

Crashed to Death

"Horse Sense" Rules

A LIFE insurance company has offered seven "horse sense" rules for keeping fit. The rules are not given as cure alls but a plan for cooperating with nature in her efforts in prolonging life and preserving health.

The seven "horse sense" rules are. Don't eat too much; don't neglect proper exercise; don't work too much, either mentally or physically; don't worry, fuss or lose your temper—the best tonic in the world is optimism and cheerfulness, seek some healthful amusement that diverts the mind and exercises the muscles, once a year have your doctor examine you for health, not for disease."

Ordinarily seven rules of conduct would not be so difficult in observance but here are given seven rules which regulate every act of every day of our lives. By the exertion of a little will power we would probably not find them much worse than a stern taskmaster in spite of the broad field they cover.

How many men and women past 30 know how to play? Are there any in this community who never overeat? Regular exercise is observed by only a small minority. Most people work too much or not enough. The most optimistic among us worry too much and lose our tempers too often for the good of our health. More people are, to be sure, participating in the many diversions, fads and amusements offered them by modern civilization and yet too many do not. And as for the seventh rule where are there men and women who think of the doctor when they are well?

Living More Intensely

THE tempo of American life rises and the nervous tension of the American people tightens with the increasing velocity of production, business and living. Modern devices to hurry up the body, intensify the emotions and accelerate the mind have come into general use. Business works a net work of telephone and telegraph wires. Automatic bookkeeping machines, typewriters and card indexes enable individuals to control vast areas of industrial operations, involving billions of dollars. Even in the home and on the farm electrification and the gasoline motor have quickened the pace.

Emotionally the nation is ever under high pressure. The motion picture compresses into two hours the whole range of human adventure and excitement for thousands. The radio is concentrating millions on one thought and at one time. Huge stadiums throughout the country gather with ease and safety crowds numbered in hundreds of thousands, permitting them to enjoy the magnetic thrill of concentrated mass emotion.

All this speed and size is an accepted part of the atmosphere of the American city. It causes people unconsciously to quicken their pace and to feel themselves part of a huge confederation of success. Is it any wonder that "high-voltage" [illegible] are becoming [illegible]? What more logical [illegible] "high-voltage" age to live in?

ONE [illegible] raging endeavor [illegible] anity of the public mind [illegible] growing impatience with [illegible] called "Pollyannaism." Genuine optimism does not consist in disregarding the unpleasant parts of life. Neither is it a thoughtless satisfaction with present conditions without thought of the future. Still less is it that state of mind that distinguished Mr. Micawber, who was always "waiting for something to turn up."

Antecedent to a justifiable attitude of optimism must be an unprejudiced and thorough analysis of the situation; in which both dark and bright sides must be equally clear, then a profound conviction, based on the evidence of history and personal experience, of the slow but irresistible conquest of right over wrong of truth over falsehood, not yet fulfilled but eternally fulfilling.

But no one who has merely a passive faith in the rightness of things is entitled to the name of optimist. His belief must be quickened into action, and here the pragmatic modern attitude manifests its sensible demands for consistent living. The old proverb "All things come to him who waits" has received a characteristically modern supplement "But it comes a whole lot quicker if he goes after it."

Sensitivity Tests Found Helpful in Curing Asthma

Cases of This Malady That Causes Difficulty in Breathing Fall Into Three Groups—Finding Exact Cause First Step Toward a Cure

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ONE of the most distressing conditions that doctors encounter is the disease called asthma. If you have ever seen a person in an asthmatic attack, you realize the suffering and anguish that the afflicted one must endure.

A person is said to have asthma when he has repeated attacks of difficult breathing. The attacks may last for a few minutes or continue for several hours. In this attack there is a spasm of the windpipe and of the smaller tubes that supply air to the lungs. The breathing becomes so difficult that it seems as if the patient might choke because of lack of air.

Often the color of the face turns dark and the lips become blue. Breathing is more difficult when lying down. The sufferer assumes some awkward position in an attempt to breathe more freely. There is violent coughing after each attack, and a great deal of stringy sputum is raised.

I am happy to say that within the past few years great strides have been made in the treatment and cure of this disease. The causes of asthma are now divided into three groups. The treatment depends upon the correct classification of the disease.

The first group is often described as the "extrinsic" group. These cases are believed to be caused by a sensitivity to some substance coming from outside the body. When the individual is exposed to one or more of these substances he develops an asthmatic attack.

There are many of these substances, but pollen, animal furs, dusts, and certain foods are the principal offenders. To treat this type of asthma it is necessary to find the offending substance. This is done by "sensitivity tests" made by injections into the skin. It is necessary first to find what the irritating substance is then it must be avoided.

The second group is known as the "intrinsic" group and consists of cases that are believed to be due to disorders within the body. The most common of these disorders are infected teeth and tonsils, nasal deformities, sinusitis, inflammation of the gall bladder and appendix. Constipation, nervousness, lack of fresh air and exercise, as well as continued overwork without proper rest must be considered. Remarkable success is obtained when the cause is removed.

The third group is most difficult to classify and to treat. It is usually seen in individuals beyond forty years of age. The cause is not definitely known, but it is believed to be due to a weakness of the muscles in the windpipe and bronchial tubes. It is often found in sufferers from chronic bronchitis. Change of climate is of greatest benefit. Repeated attacks weaken the heart and lungs and such persons should have periodic examinations by the physician.

CHAPTER LX

Frome smiled to himself in the darkness as he thrust a small cake of gray putty-like substance, that deadly explosive, gehgnite, into a crevice of the fissured wall, rapidly he fixed the detonator and a length of fuse. Within less than two minutes those half cleared steps on the other side of the wall would be buried under an avalanche of debris.

And who could prove that the fall had been deliberately contrived? The crash of falling masonry would come almost simultaneously with the sound of explosion, drowning it.

He glanced cautiously round; then struck a match, lit the trailing length of fuse. It would burn long enough for him to be far away before the explosion came. Sparks began to sputter from the end of the fuse. Now for flight! Frome turned to bolt—to realize with a start and a suddenly whitening face that all his guilty movements had been watched. Two figures stealing up swiftly and noiselessly behind him, already close on him!

"Not this time, Frome—you with your damned murderous tricks!" It was Ilsham. With a spring he was on Frome. "Quick, Webber!" he shouted. "Stamp out that fuse!"

Frome fought like a madman. He was more powerfully built than Ilsham, and sheer desperation made him a still more dangerous antagonist. Ilsham alone could not have held him, but Webber, after coolly extinguishing the fuse that in another thirty seconds would have exploded the charge, was there to take a swift hand in the game.

Frome, still struggling, was being held in a grip he fought against in vain as Inspector Haste came running up with Jim and Grayson. In the distance two plain clothes men were following in response to Haste's signal.

"Hello, Wynter," said Ilsham a little breathlessly. "Just caught this murderous gentleman red-handed. The scheme was to blow up this wall—and in another minute there'd have been four dead men on the other side!"

A pair of handcuffs clicked upon the would-be murderer's wrists.

SENATE COMMITTEE HEARS CROSS-SECTION OF OPINION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — A broad cross-section of the country's business, labor, social, political and scientific life is slated to appear before the senate manufactures committee this week to urge enactment of the Bingham bills legalizing 4 per cent beer.

Leaders of national women's organizations presented the views of their membership. Mrs. Lorraine C. Brower, of Brooklyn, vice president of the Congregational Districts Modification league, and Miss M. Louise Gross, national chairman of the Woman's Modification Union, were the first to address the committee.

Also scheduled to appear during the day was Dr. William Gerry Morgan, former president of the American Medical Society, and Dean of the Georgetown University medical school. Dr. Morgan has been the physician of president and national figures in the capital for more than a quarter of a century.

He is a noted stomach specialist and is a strong advocate of the legalization of beer as a curb to the growing use of bootleg liquors. He has advised the committee that he will submit statistics showing the constant increase in stomach disorders since the enactment of prohibition.

Another famous physician who is slated to appear is Dr. Graham Lusk, former dean of Cornell Medical school and one of the greatest physiologists in the world. He has written a number of books on nutrition and will testify on the harmlessness of 4 per cent beer.

Tomorrow the committee will hear Internal Revenue Commissioner David Burnet on the amount of revenue the government could collect through a moderate tax on beer. Burnet has made a comprehensive study of this matter and will lay authoritative facts before the committee.

3 TIE FOR TOP

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Three big ten basketball teams were coveting 1000 precent ratings today.

Northwestern and Michigan remain at the top of the conference by virtue of victories over Iowa and Minnesota last night, and Ohio State because of an open date.

In the other conference game last night Purdue whipped Wisconsin 38 to 22.

Northwestern, conference champions, barely kept on top of the lead held throughout the game, to defeat Iowa 32 to 26.

Michigan kept its conference record clean at the expense of the heretofore unbeaten Gophers, winning from the Minnesota team 30 to 25.

At Lafayette Purdue had little difficulty disposing of the Green Wisconsin team, 38 to 22. The Boilermakers led all the way.

For the monthly dues, each member is guaranteed free medical and dental attention, examinations, medicine and surgical operations—this includes free bed, board and attention in one of the centro's hospitals, the finest equipped and most up-to-date in the world. Should illness of a member necessitate a trip abroad, all expenses are paid, plus a weekly indemnity based on his former salary for a period of one year. That's not all. The member's $2 also entitles him to life insurance, educates his children in the schools maintained by the centro and puts the organization's banking facilities at his disposal. Americans who have visited these clubs, notably the Centro Asturiano and the Centro Gallego in Havana, are amazed at their pretentiousness. They are comparable to the most ornate royal palaces in Europe. The clinics and hospitals are marvels of bygiene and modernity and the medical staffs and surgeons among the finest in the world. In view of the frantic search by statesmen and social workers for a remedy for our present economic sickness, a study of the Cuban Centro system would not be amiss. It has worked so beautifully in the war against sickness and disease that with a few variations it might be made to fit our own unemployment problem.

BALANCE BUDGET IS JOB OF DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Democratic leaders of the house placing the balancing of the budget as their major task of the present session, today prepared to embark upon a program of improving upon Hoover frugality.

The Democratic plan now in preparation includes not only a slashing of the budget estimates of President Hoover but a reorganization of governmental bureaus that may go further than the president's suggestion.

TAX INCREASE

The second phase of the program—a tax increase—will begin to take final shape as the house ways and means committee begins hearings on Wednesday.

Having cut the first deficiency bill estimates of the budget bureau 10 per cent, the house appropriations committee will complete the agriculture department bill, first of the regular supply bills, this week. An even greater cut is expected in this measure.

Determined to push reorganization of government bureaus, with approval of party leaders, Rep. Cochran (D) of Missouri will call the expenditures committee together to lay out a program.

The tentative consolidation plan includes union of the army and navy, creation of a federal public works bureau, transfer of the shipping board to the department of commerce and a reorganization of the governmental disbursing system.

Investigators for the committee have learned there are 300 separate paymasters in the government, all subject to orders from the heads of department bureaus. Proposals have been made to create a paymaster-general.

Democratic resentment over Mr. Hoover's statements, which flared up in the statement of Senator McKellar (D) of Tennessee accusing the president of extravagance, is shared in the house appropriations committee.

CUTS NEEDED

Unless unprecedented cuts in budget estimates are made, it is admitted this session of congress will appropriate far more than the last session.

President Hoover's budget, deficiency estimates, the reconstruction finance corporation, depositors finance corporation and the farm loan aid bill—all recommended by the administration — bring the total of prospective expenditures to $5,700,000,000 as against $5,168,000,000 last year.

Since the Democrats control the house, which must initiate revenue bills under the constitution, Democratic leaders realize they may be charged with extravagance if they spend more than last year.

The only prospect for great economy, it is admitted, is in reorganization of government bureaus and a slashing of federal salaries. Democratic leaders are agreed upon the first proposal, but are divided on the wisdom of cutting salaries.

COUNTY DADS

salaries of county officials, deputies and clerks, the former to take a 10 per cent cut and the deputies and clerk a 15 per cent reduction, when it appeared Monday morning. This proposal has met with considerable opposition about the courthouse.

It was also asked by the morning group that the farm bureau's appropriation be cut in half.

Public hearings on the budget have been scheduled for the next two weeks before the county commissioners after which the county dads will make their final appropriation list for 1932.

John Hay, president of the board of county commissioners, stated after the Monday afternoon meeting that figures compiled in the auditor's office have disclosed that county taxes have been reduced 20 percent from what they were a year ago.

GUERNSEY CATTLE FANCIERS GATHER

The annual meeting of the Pickaway-co Guernsey Cattle club will be held on Saturday afternoon, January 23rd, at 1 p. m., in the Farm Bureau Home.

Guernsey breeders, 4-H club members and folks interested in Guernseys throughout the county are particularly invited to attend this meeting.

Floyd Barlow, secretary of the Ohio Guernsey Breeders Association, will be here to discuss getting the most out of Guernseys.

E. E.Heizer, dairy professor, Ohio State University will present an illustrated lecture showing the origin of the Guernsey cow, her native home and recent developments in the improvement of Guernseys. These pictures and this lecture will be worth many dollars to everyone who is interested in developing a conservative breeding program.

The election of directors and officers for the coming year will occur during the program.

Guernsey breeders through the county have laid conservative economical foundation for future dairy expansion. The value of this work can only be measured in future dairy returns, in a county in which agricultural trends are toward more dairying.

TRIAL OF DOCTORS JURY IN DEADLOCK

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 12.—A jury in the trial of doctors O. R. Kackley and Cletus Sehl of Galion, on charges of performing an abortion operation disagreed here today. Five women and seven men jurors stood seven to five for conviction after five hours' deliberation.

The operation was alleged to have been performed upon Miss Ivalene Gates, 17, of Galion, who died last August.

Brennan At Wmsport

Morrey Brennan, The Giant of Jazz," will lead his orchestra at Williamsport this evening at Sulphur Springs dance pavilion. The orchestra comes direct from the Greystone ballroom in Cleveland.

It is claimed that there has been a marked decline in the writing of love letters. Folks are growing more cautious.

Some old-fashioned folks made considerable effort to be polite, but there is a scarcity of common courtesy in these days.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor Union Herald;- More than fifty years ago, I learned to read by reading the Union Herald and Ohio State Junrnal to my father, when his eye sight was weak, and he explained much of what I read, so I enclose another year's subscription. I could not keep house without the Union Herald, as it is like a letter from home every week. Since those days I have crossed the continent twenty seven times, visited every state and every large city in the Union, besides Alaska, Canada and Mexico, but in all my travels I have never seen any more beautiful country than the Deercreek, Darby, Scioto and Walnut Creek Valleys, nor any more intellgent up to date people than those in old Pickaway and the state of Ohio generally. I often take pride in telling people that I was born and reared amid the green fields, the smiling Valleys and the noble forests of the imperial state of Ohio Mother of Presidents authors, inventors, generals, soldiers, statesmen, scientists and people eminent and distinguished in all the walks of life, where every man from banker to bootblack took an active interest in politics. My boyhood days were those of barbecues, polerasings, torchlights processions jollifications and other things that made life more worth living than the things of today it seems to me. Then, the good old county and state conventions of both parties, were worth a great deal towards making for party government and party solidarity. There are far too many Senators and Represenatives masquerading as Republicans and Democrats who are neither only so far as getting into office. Then they do not support their party platforms, leaders nor programs, so they tend to paralyze government. I believe in the primary where every voter has the chance to help nominate the one he feels will best fill the office, but the lack of the real county and state convention, and the lack of something binding the nomines to fulfil the national or state platform pledges are great weaknesses in our political system in my opinion, I am proud of the voters of Pickaway County when they elect worthy and honorable men of both parties to office, like Edgar Beatty of Muhlenberg, and Mr. Everett Dick of Monroe, and have such faithful, diligent officials as Sheriff Radcliff and his deputies. I believe the happiest moment of my whole political life, occurred when Colonel Charles E. Groce, chairman of a Pickaway co. Republican Convention about forty years ago, looked out over the more than a hundred delegates from every township in the county and announced, "I will appoint Mr. Thomas Ambrose of Muhlenburg, as Secretary of this convention," President Hoover may have been proud when he became president but not more so than I at that moment. By the way, in my judgement, President Hoover is no more to blame for the present world-wide depression, than the man in the moon. He will be to blame though, unless he formulates the very best program or plans for getting this country out of it, and can get Senators and Representatives to enact legislation to carry it into effect. Unless the Democratic Party present a program or plans that the majority of the educators believe is superior to the Republican, they will continue that party in power. Abusing and blaming President Hoover will not get them anywhere. The Democratic party numbers among its members, many able, just, faithful honorable and upright men, and none of them, in my opinion, are superior to your own Governor White, and Senator Bulkley. In ability, education and experience in national affairs, Senator Bulkley is superior to most of them. The nation is needing leadership of the Roosevelt, Wilson, Bryan type,

I once heard Champ Clark say the Republican Party is like a hill of potatoes, the best part of it is under ground Probably the Democrtic Party is in the same case.

In all my political experience, I never saw politics in such a mixed up mess Millions of Dry Republicans, Millions of Wet ones Millions of Dry Democrats, Millions of Wet ones, Protective Tariff or Revenue Tariff, the same way as dry or wet. It is going to be difficult to get either party to decide whether the main issue is to be economic or prohibition. In my opinion, it should be economic, and not religious and prohibition as it was in 1928. Millions in 1928 liked Governor Smith's economic views but did not like his religion or prohibition sentiments at all, so they would not vote for him. Since 1928. I have been in forty three of the states and made inquiry as I had opportunity, as to the cause of Governor Smith losing so many states and invariably the reply, was the aversion to his prohibition views and their dislike to see a Catholic president because of their fear he might be subservient to the Pope at Rome.

If there were an American Catholic Church, with no foriegn overlordship, then a Catholic would be upon the same political footing as those of other religions. I should very much like to see that, because my experience with Catholics convinces me they are just like other Americans. For the last twenty-five year I have been teaching dayschool, nightschools, Sundayschool among Swedish Lutherans and although I am a Methodist, I have never known better people than they.

I have attended a half dozen sessions of Congress and got to know most of the Senators and Representatives of both parties, and attend a half dozen National Conventions of both parties and got to know many leaders of both parties, and know there are no very great differences between them. They all seem anxious to do the best they can for the welfare of the county, consistent with their own political futures and the welfare of their parties.

They are only human, the same as you and I. Fine upstanding Americans, the most of them, men it is a great pleasure to meet and talk to. Not a Senator or Representative that I ever talked to but what seemed glad to have my views upon any subject of national importance. Some of them confessed to me they were in ignorance of how the rank and file of their constituents felt upon some questions at issue.

Knowing the American people at first hand as I do, it is my honest opinion if the national election were held now, the Republican Party would be swept completely out of power. But by next November matters may be so much different that it might be continued in power for another four years No sensible man will confidently predict what the American electorate will do next November.

As to the cause of the depression, it seems to me that the world by machinery can produce ever so much more of everything than the world needs or can buy and consume.

The machine can not buy and use part of what it produces, as the worker could, and did before the depression.

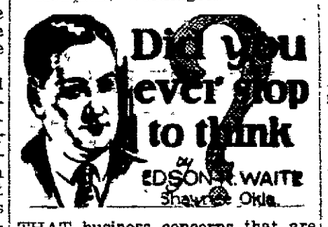
The world is over industrialized overcapitalized and has had overspeculation too much selfishness, not enough for real Christianty and genuine education, too much money spent in getting ready for war that ought never to come, too many of us have been improvident extravagent, mismanaged our affairs, too many are not satisfied with enough but want more, and so we must get back to simpler living, as one thing to relieve the depression. The agriculture problem has not been solved.

I sometimes think the American people should be divided into two main classes, the skinners and the skinned, and that most of the skinned belong to the agricultural class When farmers elected me secretary - treasurer of their Federal Farm Loan Association, I was much surprised at the number of them who were burdened with three year eight per cent mortgages that they wished to exchange for thirty five year five per cent mortgages That saved many of them their farms.

I must say that in all my travels, the most beautiful setting and surroundings for a farm home that I have seen is the farm home of the late Mr Elias Florence in Jackson Township. The one nearest to it in surroundings, is one I saw near Ashland, Virginia

The most legitimate complaint, in my judgement that can be made against Republican Senators and Representatives, is they have not restored agriculture to a parity with other business and industries as they promised, even if other businesses and industries have come down to nearly agriculturesatus They may go up again and agriculture may not.

Yours truly
Thomas S Ambrose Route 1, Issaquah, Washington



THAT business concerns that are selling something of everything, but not enough of anything should turn their attention to better advertising. The right kind of advertising stimuates business.

Truthful, persistent advertising gets the attention of the readers and sets their thoughts moving in the direction of the merchandise or service advertised in a way that brings results.

Advertising holds customers, makes new ones, and turns fussy customers into satified customers.

The modern business concern knows that good advertising is worthy of the thoughts of all thoughful people and they read them item by item, because they show the way to greater savings.

People realize that the business concerns whose names they find in the advertising colums have left nothing undone to carry in stock the finest merchandise that is possible to be produced for the price asked.

The scheme of life is so arranged that some have merchandise and need cash while others have cash and need merchandise. Advertising provides the opportunity for them to meet.

Terry's Salary Fight Is Begun

NEW YORK, Jan 12 Bill Terry, the big gunner of the New York Giants, today had stolen the thunder of Babe Ruth batting king of the Yankees, in New York's annual holdout warfare

Ruth's demand for another $80 - 000 contract from Col Jacob Ruppert involves approximately four times as much cash as the salary squable begun yesterday between Terry and Charles A Stoneham, president of the Giants But the Terry case is likely to make more noise.

Babe and Jake both extremely good natured, cannot get really mad at one another and their financial arguments always are settled more or less peacefully under the mellowing influence of a few beers. The controversy between the temperamental Terry and the business-like Stoneham however has started with fighting words

BLAST IS OPENED

The Giant's first baseman, in his opening blast from his home in Memphis, announced he was "throughly disgusted' with Stoneham's offer, believed to call for a forty per cent slash from about $24,000 to $15,000 a year Stoneham replied Terry made trouble for the Giants every year by holding out, although he received "thousands of dollars more than other great National league playes."

In answer to Terry's request to be traded to another club Stoneham declared he would not trade or sell Bill, but would force him to stay out of organized baseball The New York club once carried out a similar threat against Ed Roush

Terry would bring a fancy sum on the auction block, but the Giants need him. Sam Leslie Bill's only available understudy, is a good hitter but a poor fielder

LEADING BATTER

Terry won the league batting championship in 1930 with a mark of 401 and missed winning the crown last year by a fraction of a point His average, however, fell off 52 points, due largely to the "dead ball" adopted by the league last season

There has been feeling between Terry and the managerment of the Giants for some time Execution of Stoneham's threat to make Terry quit baseball would not cut sweet William in the bread line, for he owns a string of gasoline filling stations in the south

O. NORTHERN WIN

ADA, O, Jan 12—Ohio Northern displaying mid-season strength and shooting accuracy had won its first Ohio Conference game of the season today by shellacking the Capital University quintet from Columbus nere last night, 44 to 18

The local quintet started with a rush and jumped 'way out in the lead and held it all the way The score at half-time was 18 to 7 Porosky, Northern forward, led the scorers with 12 markers

Meet Lutheran Five

DELAWARE, O, Jan 12—Ohio Wesleyan's chances in the current Buckeye conference basketball race will be given a service test here Saturday night when the Battling Bishops meet Wittenberg's powerful quintet

The Lutherans last year won 18 out of 19 games played and this season are starting out as if to repeat their 1930-31 record

Coach Ray Detrick of Ohio Wesleyan, however is banking on the men shown herewith to stop the Lutherans

His ace scorer is Clarence Hendricks, Findlay, sohpomore center, who has averaged nearly 10 points per game in the Bishops first seven contests

Howard Ginaven, Springfield, is a veteran forward, and Wilmer Dickerson, Adena, a guard, likewise is a veteran.

Theory in Dispute

The quantum theory is the theory that radiation from a body is emitted only in discrete units, called quanta, and according to some forms of the theory, that absorption occurs in the same discontinuous manner. This theory is now widely accepted by scientists. It has, however, been criticized by Frank Wigglesworth Clark.—Washington Star.

Color blindness is four times as prevalent among whites as among American Indians, is the report of an anthropologist who has just completed a study.

SLEEPING COMFORT

We hear a lot about the "depression' that is aid to exist at this time. Yes, we'll admit that the "repression," as Amos 'n Andy says, does hurt. However, there's another kind of depression, or rather the lack of one, that hurts still more. We refer to the lack of depression in the bed-spring on which we sleep.

Did you ever stop to think that it is the "depression" in your bed spring that makes sleeping worth while? If it were not for them, we're greatly afraid that you'd not rest comfortably These depressions are made by the body and should conform to the shape, or contour, of YOU. If they "fit" you, then you'll sleep in comfort; if they do not, you'll wake up with a tired feeling. To get real sleeping comfort, the human body should be supported at all points by making depressions in the spring and mattress ,especially at the hips and shoulders.

When you retire, does YOUR spring and mattress conform to the shape of your body? Or are you still using one of those "hammock" style springs that sag down in the middle, sloping downward from the head and foot, folding your body like a jack-knife? You can't rest comfortably on that kind of a spring because of the lack of depressions. Get one of those new model DE LUXE springs—that LUXURIOUS spring—and begin to enjoy real sleeping comfort. You'll find that they will depress wherever the body is heavy enough to make a depression and you'll thank your lucky stars for following our advice.

* * *

The next time you "throw" a bridge party, don't bother your neighbors for extra chairs, nor drag your own down from upstairs. Just give us a ring and we'll furnish them for a small rental. Yes, and if you wish to make them look real attractive, ask us for chair covers. These cover the back and seat and may be rented for a very reasonable fee.

* * *

You can always place your money on a Scotchman' One of them, so the story goes, decided to put aside a check for $500 in recognition of the department heads' successful services.

"Yes," he said, "and if the next year is as good I will sign the check."

A lady to whom we sold an Estate Gas Range recently entertained her mother, who lives in a large distant city, over the Christmas holidays. Of course, her mother admired the beautiful range and inquired where it was purchased. When informed that it was bought right here in old Roundtown, she could scarcely believe it Good goods are sold in Circleville as well as larger centers. Yes, they are sold right in Stevenson's, too

* * *

One of our customers, who was induced to purchase a good inner-spring mattress and a coil bed-spring, was in the store last Saturday and was telling us how well pleased he was over his purchase. For something like $47.00, he purchased the mattress, spring and bed. And he has an outfit that makes him a better working man after a night's rest. How's your bed? Is it a real bed, or is it just something to lie upon?

* * *

When it comes to cooking appliances, we rather "give ourselves a pat on the back" and believe that we have the last word in modern methods. Perhaps it's because we like things that are prepared in the kitchen—like most men After all, isn't the kitchen—the work-shop of the housewife—one of the most important features of the home? And so, with that thought in mind, we are always on the look-out for the best in cooking equipment.

* * *

A few weeks ago we told the readers of RTT that we had added another well-known line of oil-burning cookers and ranges to our already well-equipped line. It was the PERFECTION kerosene line—the new line with the HIGH POWER burners. And are they HIGH-POWER? Just ask us for the name of a certain lady up in Monroe-twp and then inquire of her. She had a beautiful Ivory and Black Perfection range delivered to her home last Thursday.

* * *

One of our most popular, if not THE most popular, cooking appliances is the Estate Gas range. We sell them to city or country users, whether they have natural gas or not. Of course, if natural gas is not available, we install PYROFAX GAS SERVICE. This system gives those residing beyond the reach of gas mains the same convenient method of cooking and baking that is used in the best of city homes. And now that the new 1932 prices have taken effect, we can see no reason why every home, city or country, should not have an Estate range, fully enameled, with insulated oven, for as little as $54.50! Why not avail yourself of the range that bakes with FRESH AIR AND GIVES PERFECT RESULTS EVERY TIME.

* * *

Mothers of young children, who are just learning to walk, why let them crawl and wiggle around on the floor? They'll get their clothing soiled and the floor is cold—unless you are using an Estate Heatrola—when there is no need of it. Get a TAYLOR-TOT at this store. The child will be off the floor and will receive a lot of exercise in propelling itself around the room. And then, after the child has learned to walk, the TAYLOR-TOT, after making an easy adjustment, may be used as a kiddie-kar. Yes, they're dandy handy when it comes to taking the child out on the side-walk, as the TAYLOR-TOT may be used as a go-cart. Take it from us, Mothers, you'll be saved a lot of work and worry if you'll get one at our store

Veterans of the World War should be more careful of their speech.

"Harry surprised me very much last night by saying that we're going to take our honeymoon in France."

"How nice; and how did he spring it on you?"

"He said as soon as we were married, he would show me where he was wounded in the war."
